PRESS RELEASE

Homebwoi Teams Up with 5x Platinum, Grammy-Nominated Icon Bone Crusher for Explosive New Single "Goin' To War"

Southern Hip-Hop artist, producer, and CEO, Homebwoi, is raising the bar with his latest single, "Goin' To War," featuring none other than 5x platinum, Grammy-nominated rap heavyweight Bone Crusher, best known for the smash hit "Never Scared." The track is now available on all major streaming platforms.

"Goin' To War" is a high-energy anthem that blends Homebwoi's signature future-nostalgic meets stadium sound with Bone Crusher's legendary, hard-hitting delivery. The collaboration marks a major moment for the Atlanta music scene, uniting two forces known for authenticity, grit, and undeniable stage presence.

Homebwoi—widely recognized for his dynamic verses on the Ying Yang Twins' hit single "Halftime (Stand Up & Get Crunk)" and former Cash Money Records artist B.G.'s single "Where Da At?"—continues to push boundaries with each release. As CEO of Metro Southern Media, Homebwoi is celebrated for his sharp lyricism, electrifying performances, and a brand that fuses future-nostalgic meets stadium music culture. "Goin' To War" follows his acclaimed album How to Tame an Elephant and builds on a legacy of genre-blending, impactful Southern Hip-Hop.

Bone Crusher, famed for his chart-topping anthem "Never Scared" and electrifying collaborations, brings a new level of intensity to the track, making "Goin' To War" an instant classic for fans of real Hip-Hop.

"This record is all about high energy and motivation. Linking up with Bone Crusher took the energy to a whole new level," says Homebwoi.

The single is accompanied by gritty, urban-inspired cover art that captures the raw energy and legendary authenticity of both artists.
